

NEW YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

New York, April 5, 1870. Rent Distribution. Those wicked people, the landlords, are to be punished at last. After having sent up the rents for an indefinite period, they are to experience the mortification of a descent. There is every prospect that after May 1 rents of stores and residences in New York will be cheaper than for many a year. Mr. Stewart has directed the agents of his property on Bleeker street and the vicinity to lower the terms at which it is leased as much as twenty-five per cent., and though this is not to be taken as indicating the rate of the average reduction, it is to be regarded as illustrative of the general tendencies of rents to come down. Several causes unite to produce this effect. One is the fact that northward the star of business takes its way. What were formerly choice retail stores in the lower sections of the city will in future be unoccupied or else undergo such alterations as will fit them for wholesale houses. The disposition of New York business men to live out of town has also been on the increase, and numerous residences have sprung into being along the lines of the Southside and Long Island Railways. Many Southrons, too, horrified at the extravagant prices they have had to pay for the privilege of being less comfortable than they were at home, may soon be expected to return to the sunny cradles of the South. And then the general and but little understood law of compensation steps in and proclaims that the end of all high rents has reached its utmost limits, and must expect, as an offset, to be succeeded by an era of less exaggerated demands.

Mr. Fechter in a Scriptural Light. For the past few days, in several of the show-rooms a picture has been hanging which has attracted a vast deal of attention from the curious passer-by as well as from the critical. "What era in the life of the Saviour does that represent?" I heard one gentleman, evidently a divine, ask of another, as they stood contemplating one of these pictures.

The question was very natural. The painting represented a man in prime of young manhood, loosely attired, with his head thrown back and his eyes gazing upwards. Upon his face was a look of angelic agony. His bright, abundant hair was parted in the middle, and fell to his shoulders in soft, mellow rolls. The entire figure, in its attitude, cast of form and feature, and facial expression, bore a remarkable resemblance to those pictures which the reverent world has accepted as portraits of the Saviour. In reality it is nothing of the kind.

What then? A portrait of Mr. Charles Fechter in the role of "Hamlet!"

The second gentleman who had been addressed explained to the first how the matter stood, and the clergyman, with a quick expression of surprise and pain, was about to hurry off. "And yet," he added, turning back, "I am almost sorry you told me, sir; I should have liked to buy it to hang up in my study."

This little incident will explain the verisimilitude of the likeness. So notorious, indeed, has it become, that Mr. Fechter has received from several New York artists offers to sit for a portrait of Christ wearing the crown of thorns, and will probably accept one of these offers upon his return to the city.

On the Rampage. The cars, the stages, and the horses appearing thereto in this city are on a perpetual rampage, and the student of human and of horse nature—the philanthropist and the veterinary surgeon—can have their hands full if they wish. Not very many weeks ago a horse incident occurred which taxed the credulity of the public to the utmost, and yet which was more veracious than most similar accounts which that public unhesitatingly swallows. It consisted in a horse leaping through the side of a passenger car, turning around therein, and walking out again, to the amazement of the passengers. The spectacle of a spasm of horses detached from a car, and careering wildly through the streets after nightfall, is by no means a novel one, and is one of the most charming indications of the ingenuousness and caprice of the equine temperament. Only yesterday afternoon, too, an incident, which might easily have been an accident, took place, which resulted only in the terror of several thousand people and the mutual smashing in of a couple of dash-boards. As a Fourth avenue car was proceeding along the Bowery, the rod which connects the brakes snapped in two, the brakes of course ceased to be of any benefit, and the car shot rapidly on. Fortunately it happened to be empty, and the driver, perceiving what danger was imminent, detached the horses. At that portion of the Bowery, near Broome street, the car was proceeding on a descent, which, curving around Broome street, continues for half a mile. As though under the possession of a demon the car continued on its way with increasing momentum, swinging around the curves, jolting, bumping, almost springing from the track, and improving a crowd along the entire route. Some dreadfully disastrous end seemed impending. Some car, proceeding along a cross track, would be smashed into, and half-a-dozen passengers knocked into eternity. No such thing. After passing several cross-tracks without interruption, it bolted into an empty car lying on the same track. There was a mutual smash of the dash-boards, a sort of bumptious dovetailing of splinters into one another, and the agony was over, the sensation was spoiled. ALI BABA.

At the Walnut Mr. Chanfrau appeared last evening in Joe a comedy by T. B. De Walden. This piece shows all the lack of skill in dramatic construction that characterizes other works by the same author. Its chief value is that it gives Mr. Chanfrau an opportunity to appear in four different characters, and thereby display his abilities by a series of marked contrasts. The piece has no very great merit itself, but clever acting made the performance amusing.

This evening the same piece will be repeated, with the comedietta of The Debutante as an after-piece.

At the Chesnut the "Bioplastic" Troupe will appear this evening in their acrobatic performance and artistic tableaux, and will introduce the celebrated prismatic fountain. The Laris will entertain the entertainment by their funny pantomimes.

At the Arch Augustin Daly's version of From-From was produced last evening. This does not differ in its essential features from the adaptation performed at the Chesnut a few weeks ago, except that Daly has altered the denouement so as to make the husband forgive the guilty wife, and receive her into his home again. This is not an improvement over the original, in our opinion.

From-From will be repeated this evening. At the Eleventh Street Opera House a variety of songs, dances, and laughable bar-quesques will be performed this evening.

At Duprez & Benedict's Opera House the burlesque of The United States Mail, written of a Bachelor, Fishes man's Luck, and other attractions are announced for this evening. STONOR BLITZ, Jr., will give a magical entertainment at the Assembly Buildings this evening.

THE PANORAMA OF "THE PA. GRIM" will be exhibited this evening at Cones' Hall for the benefit of St. Thomas (colored) P. A. Church. JOHN B. GOUGH, Esq., will lecture at the Academy of Music on Monday evening, 7, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. Subject—"Eloquence and Oratory."

Incidentals. —The extra budget of the city of Paris for the next four months will require a loan of 250,000,000 francs. The total deficit is 534,500,000 francs.

A terrible explosion occurred on the 19th of March at the great steam workshops of Fourchambault, by which eight persons were horribly scalded, five of them mortally.

The city of Paris has for several months past used 100,000 reams of paper per diem for the journals, books, pamphlets, posters, and official and business placards and handbills.

The Superior Committee of the Orphan Asylum of the Prince Imperial, Paris, admitted, on the occasion of his Imperial Highness' birthday, eleven children to that establishment, making a total of 634 inmates.

CITY ITEMS. For additional City Items see Inside Pages.

GOODS IN THE PICK. JUST OPENED, FINE ASSORTMENT, NEW STYLES, CHOICE PATTERNS. To be made up to order in best manner. In addition to usual choice.

STOCK OF READY-MADE CLOTHING. BENNETT & CO., FINEST HATS, No. 518 MARKET STREET.

SALE OF FINE PAINTINGS.—Martin Brothers will sell at their auction room, No. 704 Chestnut street, on to-morrow and Thursday, a very superior collection of modern oil paintings, to which we invite the notice of the art-loving public. The collection contains works by some of the best known and most popular artists of the day, and as the sale is promissory, and every work announced in the catalogue will be sold, this is a rare opportunity for persons who desire to decorate their homes to secure real gems of art.

Among the most noticeable works in the collection are "The Bridge of Sighs, Venice," by Charles Heidsieck; "The Carnival at St. Martin's," by Van Ingen; "Faith," by Ernest Meitzner; and "Hope," by the same author. There are a number of fine paintings of American and European scenery, several excellent ones from the old masters, and a great number of miscellaneous subjects of interest. There has seldom been an art sale in this city at which the same variety was presented, and every one can find something to suit his taste. The sale will commence each day at 11 A. M. and 7 1/2 P. M.

SPRING. Come, beautiful spring, green fields and flowers, Lamb and green peas, and coquetting showers, Spring bonnets and dresses, and new fashioned collars, And come specie payment, with bright golden dollars. A NEW YORKER named STACE has lately opened a sample room in Gold street, above Second, where merchants and business men generally can partake of a lunch, consisting of all the delicacies of the season. ROBERT STACE caters strictly for gentlemen, his viands being superior. No "tangle-leg" sold on the premises. Connoisseurs in Isaac Walton's gentle art (trout fishing) should inspect his quaint selections of lines, flies, etc.

DAY FRET.—The most effectual way of guarding one's health is to keep the feet dry, and that can only be done by the use of India Rubber Overboots, and as the inclement season is upon us, we would advise our readers to buy none but the best quality, which can only be had at CHESNUT STREET (Continental), NUMBER EIGHT TWENTY-FOUR.

A MOST STRIKING CONTRAST.—The old hair dyes and "colorers," etc., are all more or less sticky, muddy, and feed, and the hues they impart are not natural. PHILTON'S VITRALS, OR SALVATION FOR THE HAIR, the newly-discovered agent, is, on the other hand, limpid, transparent, fragrant, and effective, and has no sediment. Sold by all druggists and fancy goods dealers.

SINGER'S FAMILY SEWING MACHINES. Ten dollars each. Balance in monthly instalments. G. F. DAVIS, No. 510 Chestnut street, lower side.

ROBERT OVERBOOTS and BOOTS for Men, Women, and Children, can be had at reduced prices. Goodyear's manufacture, old stand, No. 308 Chestnut street, lower side.

THE UNIVERSITY MEDICINES ARE THE FAVORITE PRESCRIPTIONS OF THE New York Medical University. Reliable Remedies of a high Scientific character, designed for the cure of all diseases. PREPARED STRICTLY ACCORDING TO THE LAWS OF MEDICAL CHEMISTRY.

The University Medicines are prepared in accordance with the views of a distinguished living American Physician, who believes that the time is come when educated Physicians should arise and make a decisive effort to eradicate the heathenish system of Quackery prevailing in every town and city, and substitute SCIENTIFIC RESPONSIBLE REMEDIES, in place of the worthless or dangerous Patent Medicines flooding the country.

They are standard, most of the ingredients constituting them having been used by the physicians of the University, in their private practice, for more than twenty years. Although not recently brought before the public in their present form, they are REMOVED, they are rapidly superseding the old poisons, Patent Medicines and Quackery Drugs.

They are taken in small doses. They are pleasant to the taste. Their effects are almost instantaneous. We have no one CURE ALL, for all diseases, but a regular system of Remedies for each distinct class of maladies. A list of our Remedies and a valuable Medical Book sent free to any address. NEW PUBLICATIONS. AN OLD-FASHIONED GIRL. A New Book, by the author of "Little Women." NOW READY.

The Publishers announce with pleasure a new book, by Miss Alcott, the popular author of "Little Women." It is called "An Old-Fashioned Girl," and is an embodiment of what a young lady should be who is brought up under the care of well-to-do parents in the country. "Fanny" is a picture of a young lady, educated in a similar way in the city, and the most of the story lies in the difference between the two lives. "Tom," the hero-well, it is enough to say of him that all the girls will be desperately fascinated with him as with the "jolly" Laurie of "Little Women."

"An Old-Fashioned Girl" is complete in one volume, with illustrations, and matches, in size and style, "Little Women" and "Hospital Sketches." No sale at wholesale prices by PORTER & COATES, No. 822 CHESTNUT STREET, PHILADELPHIA. 44 1/2
